PROJECTS

Weather or Not: A Park Finder

Group Project, U of M Web Development Bootcamp
<https://ayshasanyang.github.io/Project-1/>

- One of 5 members of a team that built a web-based application that successfully implemented 3 different API's. My role was to build the JavaScript that retrieved accurate weather information paired with a state park finding application as well as presenting the project to the cohort and instruction team

Day Planner

<https://stephtomlin86.github.io/day-planner/>

- Using moment.js and utilizing local storage within a web browser, this web-based application helps the user effectively plan a busy schedule by saving important appointments to the local browser.
